

Circular Leadership Program

The circular economy is the future. It will help you grow your business while helping the community and the environment.

But do you know how to implement these ideas in your day-to-day operations? This hands-on learning program employs “systems thinking” as a framework that will guide you towards innovations that benefit your business and society.

WHY DO IT

- Learn leading edge sustainable business strategies and tools from Ivey faculty
- Network and collaborate with value-aligned innovative businesses
- Hear practical case studies from businesses leading the circular transition
- Expand your product line or service offering
- Pitch for prototype funding from Circular Opportunity Innovation Launchpad (COIL)
- Receive the “Circular Leadership Program” certificate from Ivey on completion
